

Architecture 1.0: human-carried loop

Much of the loop state remains implicit.

Architecture 2.0: represented loop

State, evidence, and rejection are made explicit.

The shift is not automation of the architect; it is representation and governance of the design loop.